PSY 2012 Spring 2016

Group # _____ Date ____________

Article Title

Name ____________________________________________

Name ____________________________________________

Name ____________________________________________

Name ____________________________________________

Presentation Evaluation

___ Introduce yourself and your group members and your article topic.

___ Grab the attention of your audience

___ The main purpose of this article is

___ The key question the author is addressing is

___ The most important research finding/information is

___ The key concept(s)

___ The implications are

___ The main inferences/conclusions

___ Write key terms, charts, or diagrams on the board. No full-sentences.

___ Refer to terms during your presentation.

___ Use a relaxed, natural, spontaneous style (conversational).

___ Do not read your paper. Speak from memory with assistance of brief notes.

___ Maintain eye contact with your audience. Be enthusiastic.

___ Stay within the time limit and pace yourself.

___ Engage your audience with one open ended question/activity and allow for a brief discussion.

___ Answered questions from other students

Comments: